Multiphze, LLC Named Among Top 4 Mid-Stage Finalists Competing at Med Tech Innovator 2025 Cohort

Los Angeles—October 29, 2025—MedTech Innovator (MTI), recognized as the world’s largest and most influential accelerator for medical technology startups, has announced that Multiphze, LLC has been selected as one of the top four mid-stage companies to compete at the MedTech Strategist’s Innovation Summit. This prestigious event will take place in San Diego from November 19–21, 2025.

Dr. Albert Mikhail, CEO of Multiphze, expressed the company’s excitement and pride in being named a top four mid-stage finalist. “As a small medical device company, we are excited to have been chosen among the top 4 mid-stage finalists to participate in the upcoming MedTech Strategist’s Innovation Summit. It is a testament of our hard work and growth competing over the past several months in the Med Tech Innovator 2025 Cohort,” said Mikhail. He further highlighted the significance of the company’s core product, stating, “The Multiphze Enclosed Bladder Irrigation System is a game changer for medical professionals that treat hematuria patients. We look forward to demonstrating its unique capabilities and the clinical and economic benefits it offers for customers and their patients.”
